

Instruction for filming and sending musical contributions

The musical pieces may be recorded individually but must be uploaded in one video on your personal YouTube account. You can find a guide on how to upload a video under this link <https://www.ionos.de/digitalguide/online-marketing/social-media/youtube-video-hochladen/>

Before recording:

- Hands and faces of the musicians (for chamber music also accompanists!) must be visible all time throughout the video
- If filming with the smartphone, please film in landscape format!
- The rule is better too bright than too dark, as most cameras can handle bright light better than darkness
- The recording room should be quiet. No fans from loud computers, no vacuum cleaner in the next rooms, no phone in the room, no people disturbing and so on

Important for the recording process:

- After the camera has been switched on, you should tell the following things in a loud, clear and slow language into the camera: name, first name, age, instrument, song titles and composers in the correct order. Alternatively, you can add this information to the video as a text.

Submit video file correctly:

- Once you have uploaded the video on your YouTube channel, you can copy the link to the registration form
